STUDENT ANNUAL '71 brings together in the Gallery of the College outstanding student work created during the 1970-71 academic year. The exhibition, now a Philadelphia tradition, offers the public an opportunity to view the artistic development of students who will enhance art and design in the years ahead.

COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIP FUND

The Philadelphia College of Art offers four-year accredited degree programs in 11 majors, preparing artists and designers for careers in business, industry, education and the fine arts. The cost of this education increases each year. Tuition now pays only 66 percent of each student's education. The College thus is providing a 34 percent subsidy for each student and must seek this support from friends and other sources. Increased scholarship aid for our students is an area of special need. This year 365 students received aid from the College averaging $918 per student. In many cases, these awards met only a portion of the student's actual need. For these reasons, the Scholarship Fund needs the generous support of the College's many friends. This invitation carries with it a request for your support of our Scholarship Fund. For your convenience a card and envelope are enclosed.
